

RIVER INCEPTION

This River currently called 'Mersey' has become entwined with my life as a constant yet evolving presence in my thoughts.

It has sustained life and spirit in this region for millennia, shaping the land and the lives of the people who depend upon it. An embodiment of our society's dependence on natural resources. It is part of a fundamental earth system that humans cannot exist without.

The river we know, the one we can see, is wide and placid. Subdued by dams and bridges it meanders through broad agricultural valleys. Yet beyond our view there is a river few of us know: A wild river running through deep gorges and forests.

I am on a journey to explore the essence of this river in the seen and unseen places, the sublime and the mundane.
